

A collage of various embroidered and painted artworks depicting scenes of human rights violations. The top left features a piece with the text "LEGACY OF TYRANTS" and a large number "1,595,000,000" above a pile of skulls. Below it is a piece showing a group of women in white shirts and black skirts, some holding flags. To the right is a piece with the text "Día de la Madre" and a scene of a person being carried away. The middle section includes a piece with the text "TALLERES" and a scene of a car and people, and another with the text "DONDE ESTAN" and a scene of people in a car. The bottom section features a piece with the text "COMANDANTE" and a scene of a car and people, and another with the text "MAY 23 1980" and a scene of a car and people. The collage also includes a piece with a large eye and a piece with a large number "1,595,000,000".

¿Dónde se cayó la vida?

EXPOSICIÓN ARPILLERAS

Tras las huellas
de los/las detenidos
desaparecidos y
desaparecidas

