

CONFLICT TEXTILES

Climate Change – The People’s Story

July – December 2022, The Tower Museum

Photo gallery

This exhibition curated by The Tower Museum is in partnership with Northern Ireland Museums Council and Climate Northern Ireland. It focuses on researching, interpreting, exhibiting and engaging the public with issues connecting to climate change.

Two pieces from the Conflict Textiles collection are included in this exhibition.

Life with and without Bees by Janet Wilkinson, on display in the Tower Museum as part of the Climate Change – The People’s Story exhibition. (Photo: Rachel Wetherall)

Will there be poppies, daisies and apples when I grow up?, by Irene MacWilliam, on display in the Tower Museum as part of the Climate Change – The People's Story exhibition.
(Photo: Rachel Wetherall)

A view of both arpilleras on display. (Photo: Breege Doherty)

Life with and without Bees positioned opposite the information stand dealing with the question: “What role can museums play in Climate Change?”
(Photo: Breege Doherty)

Breege Doherty.
29th September 2022.