

Threads for Corporate Justice Launch

11th October 2022

Photo gallery

Threads for Corporate Justice collective banner - the work of 12 Trócaire activists - is the outcome of a series of four online workshops Threads for Corporate Justice workshop programme, facilitated by Conflict Textiles, May - June 2022. The programme was initiated by Trócaire to raise awareness of their corporate accountability campaign.

The banner, accompanied by five arpilleras within the Threads for Corporate Justice exhibition, was launched on Tuesday, 11th October at 3pm in the Foyer of the Birley Building, Ulster University, York St., Belfast. The launch event was part of the One World Festival 2022, 10-14 October.

Conflict Textiles Fabric Artist Deborah Stockdale and Conflict Textiles curator Roberta Bacic attending to the final set up tasks.

(Photo: Breege Doherty)

Lauren Dempster, Queen's University Belfast (QUB) sees Los Bosques no son mercancía / The forests are not for sale for the first time. (Photo: Breege Doherty)

Conflict Textiles curator Roberta Bacic speaking at the launch.
(Photo: Breege Doherty)

(L-R): Breege Doherty, Deborah Stockdale, Conflict Textiles; with Mary Ryan, Co-ordinator of the Letterkenny Amnesty group in Donegal. (Photo: Breege Doherty)

Roberta Bacic and Breege Doherty, Conflict Textiles with Fiona Clark, QUB. The arpillera to the left, No to Corporativism, was created as part of an assessment for a final year undergraduate course on literature and the environment. (Photo: Breege Doherty)

(L-R): Caitlin McCracken, Ciara O'Brien and Conor Roarty, present and former students at Ulster University; with Mary Ryan and Donna Semple NICVA. (Photo: Breege Doherty)

A close up of Los Bosques no son mercancía / The forests are not for sale.
(Photo: Justin Kernaghan)

Roberta Bacic engaging with attendees at the launch. (Photo: Rob Fairmichael)

(L-R): Trócaire activist Teresa Hill, who created one of the panels, Jeannie McCann, Trócaire Deborah Stockdale and Roberta Bacic who facilitated the banner creation process.
(Photo: Justin Kernohan)

Highlighting the One World Festival 2022, 10-14 October, of which the launch was one event. (Photo: Mal Mc Cann)

Trócaire activists proudly pose in front of the banner they created, with Jeannie McCann, Trócaire. (Photo: Justin Kernoghan)

The completed installation. (Photo: Justin Kernoghan)

Breege Doherty, 21st October 2022