

Launch of Threads for Corporate Justice banner in Dublin

18th November 2022

Following the launch in Belfast, October 2022, the banner was launched in Dublin on 18th November 2022. This is the first stage in its journey to different communities around the island of Ireland to encourage action related to Trócaire's corporate accountability campaign.

Launch invitation

Trócaire to unveil powerful tapestry highlighting corporate injustice around the world

You are invited to the official launch of a “Threads for Corporate Justice” tapestry highlighting corporate and human rights abuses around the world.

Created by 12 Trócaire volunteers from all over Ireland, north and south, the powerful piece of solidarity art will support the overseas aid agency's Business and Human Rights campaign which calls for stronger regulation for companies responsible for human rights violations and environmental harms. The tapestry was developed by Trócaire under the guidance of textile artists Deborah Stockdale and Roberta Bacic from Conflict Textiles, which holds a large collection of international textiles reflecting conflict and human rights abuses.

Where: Third Space, Unit 14 Block C Smithfield Market Smithfield, Dublin 7, D07 P440

When: Friday November 18th 2022

What Time: 6.30pm. Volunteers involved in creating some of the textiles will be there to share their experience and motivation for the project.

Launch photos

Volunteers Thea Lawler, Patricia Devlin, Eiméar Savage and Niamh Darcy launching the textile.

Volunteers, musicians and attendees at the Third Space Café, 18th November, 2022.

Photos courtesy Marie-Anne Michel
Volunteer & Outreach Officer
Trócaire, Galway

