

COMMITMENT TO CO-OPERATION

Mindful of the fruitful and valued co-operation that has existed between Museo de la Paz de Guernica and Conflict Textiles and Conflict Textiles Trust for many years,

Including sharing of materials, participating in each other's activities and events, and keeping each other abreast of new developments in each organisation,

Recognising that this relation has been to the mutual benefit of both parties,

Aware that the Conflict Textiles Collection is likely to become part of the Ulster University,

And wishing that the existing good relations are maintained and strengthened as part of the transfer:

We are resolved to make this commitment to future co-operation.

This will mean as far as possible:

- continuing the relationship at the current level or deepening it,
- keeping each institution informed of the other's plans and activities,
- participating where appropriate in each other's activities,

When the Conflict Textiles Collection is transferred to Ulster University, contact will be made between the two institutions to plan how this Commitment to Co-operation will work in practice.

Signed

Brandon Hamber

John Hume and Thomas P. O'Neill
Chair in Peace

Ulster University

8.5.2025

Signed

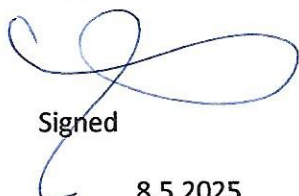

Iratxe Momoito

Zuzendaritza

Museo de la Paz de Guernica

8.5.2025

In the presence of Roberta Bacic, Trustee, and founder of Conflict Textiles

Signed

8.5.2025