

Youth Council of Basque Country's visit to Queen's University and Ulster Museum

McClay Library, Queen's University ARK / Conflict Textiles – Languages

Ulster Museum Inclusive Global Histories

4th July 2026

Conflict Textiles guided tour to current exhibitions and interactive conversation at Queen's Auditorium

Dr. Lauren Dempster, Queen's lecturer
School of Law and CT Trustee introduces CT

CT curator and Ulster University Visiting Professor, Roberta Bacic interacts and responds to comments and queries by attendees

Attendees were University Students engaged and interested in gaining exposure to Human Rights explored creatively

Students and facilitators who came with the group engaged in a participatory and bonding activity

Attendees walk from auditorium to exhibition wall

Roberta Bacic talking to each of the pieces on display and refers to the focus on "languages" and curatorial approach

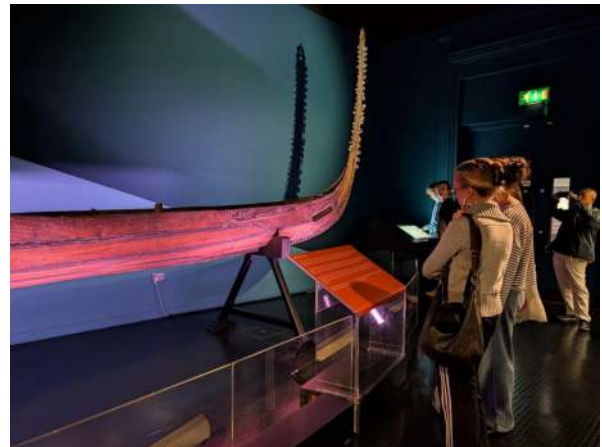

Participants viewing the display

Visitors enter and explore C.S. Lewis Reading Room and engaged in animated discussion

Participants visit the revamped Inclusive Global Histories display and ask questions on decolonization

Some of the attendees stop look and comment on the objects displayed Inclusive Global Histories

Argentinian Arpillera by Ana Zlatkes on display

2 ephemera objects connected to migration post second world war

EGK, or the Youth Council of the Basque Country (Euskadiko Gazteriaren Kontseilua), is a public group that brings together around 60 youth associations in Spain's Basque Autonomous Community. Its main job is to connect young people with the government. It works on important issues like housing, jobs, education, and equality. The participants applied to the call to visit Northern Ireland and engage in "The Troubles". They came accompanied by facilitators: Monica de Albillos Eizaguirre, Miren Gonzalez Uriarte, Eider Garmendia Albizu and Maialen Lizarralde Altuna

Prepared by Eva Gonzalez and Roberta Bacic