

Seminars on a Victims and Survivors Forum announced.

One of the areas within the remit of the Interim Commissioner for Victims and Survivors (ICVS) is to consider the practical issues around establishing a Victims' and Survivors' Forum.

The Interim Commissioner now wants to engage directly with those who have views in relation to a forum for victims and survivors. The Interim Commissioner is interested in finding out, among other things, whether people consider that a forum is a useful vehicle to take forward the interests of victims and survivors, what the aims of any forum should be and how any forum would be constituted. To facilitate this, a series of seminars at various locations have been arranged during the month of June.

The attached table shows the timetable and location of the events. If anyone would like to attend one of these events and make your views known, can you please contact this office on 028 9025 6694. If you have any particular access needs for this event, can you please let us know in advance.
