

Go to:

Guardian
Unlimited

Boxed set with CD for just £29.99

Guardian
UnlimitedGuardianUnlimited Special reports

Home	UK	Business	Audio	Podcasts	The Wrap	News blog	Talk	Search
The Guardian	World	News guide	Arts	Special reports	Columnists	Technology	Help	Quiz

Special report
Northern Ireland

3.15pm

Victims of Troubles condemn Internet game

Owen Bowcott, Ireland correspondentWednesday May 16, 2007Guardian Unlimited

Search this site

Go to...

Special report: Northern IrelandNorthern Ireland archived articlesIn this sectionTurner artist turns focus on Bobby SandsNorthern Ireland house pricesVictims of Northern Ireland Troubles condemn Internet game

An internet game in which players become republican or loyalist paramilitaries has been condemned by victims of terrorism who say it glorifies violence.

The Hooded Gunman, which claims to be the first online game based on Northern Ireland's Troubles encourages those who register to accumulate money through drug dealing, counterfeiting, running prostitution rackets and murdering opponents.

Each round of the game ends with the awarding of a £1,000 prize for the "Top Dog" gunman or a laptop computer.

The designer, Warren Downey, 32, from Newtownabbey near Belfast, has defended the game on the grounds that it is merely "fun", portrays paramilitaries to be criminals and that the online community it attracts will be able to "unite in our differences".

As a game designer, he said, he had come across role-playing sites featuring the Mafia but none that used

Roy Hattersley: Ian Paisley and me

Northern Ireland's paramilitary factions as a theme.

Spy at heart of IRA 'is still a target'

The welcoming statement on The Hooded Gunman declares: "Get rid of all your frustrations in this online game about Northern Ireland terrorism ... We believe that there should be no further segregation in our society.

Nick Cohen: Stop this drift into educational apartheid

Musket in hand, Paisley buries the hatchet with Ahern

"So please play the game and have some fun, in the knowledge that although this is only a game the troubles were very real indeed. We believe that it is this division and unawareness to our beautiful diversities in our community that caused these troubles."

Blair's legacy: Northern Ireland

Letters: Beyond Northern Ireland's tribal politics

But the game has angered some who fear it is exploiting the past. Alan McBride, who is a director of the Healing Through Remembering project, lost his wife and father-in-law in an IRA bomb on the Shankill Road in 1993.

Paisley plays peacemaker on battlefield

Letter: Lessons of Ireland

"It does attempt to glorify [violence] in some senses and it is absolutely appalling," he told BBC Radio Ulster.

Obituary: George Dawson

Leader: Northern Ireland

"Given all the good things that have happened recently in Northern Ireland, and we were moving away from that, I think this game is just silly.

Old foes join forces at last to share power at Stormont

"I work with victims ... helping victims to talk about their experiences, but I can't see at all how this game can attempt to do that in any way. It is much more therapeutic for people to be involved in story-telling projects or other ways of actually dealing with the past."

Michael White on Ulster's new dawn

In the game, policemen pop up unexpectedly and offer inducements for players to become informers. Mr Downey has insisted that neither officers nor civilians can be attacked in the course of the game.

More than 2,800 people, some from America and Australia, have registered to play. The orange-coloured pages show the Union Jack, the Irish tricolour and what appear to be symbols of the outlawed Ulster Freedom Fighters.

A hooded gunman with a pistol appears above a sign saying "merchandise available". The site, which is not complete, says it intends to sell clothing, keyrings and accessories.

The opening instructions for the game declare: "Start by making some money by collecting money from your casinos, brothels, loan sharks, gambling dens.

"Go to black market and buy drugs, alcohol to make your guys happy. Also get weapons for your defensive units. When you feel strong and rich enough you can attack other paramilitaries in your range.

"Be careful though, nobody will let you attack them without revenge."

Special reports

Northern Ireland

Politics in Northern Ireland

Timelines

26.09.2005: Northern Ireland: 1922-2005

Northern Ireland: A brief history of the Troubles

Video

Watch the IRA statement \(MP4\)

Watch the IRA statement \(Realplayer\)

Interactive

Ireland before partition: a brief history

The Troubles 1968 - 1995

Bloody Sunday

The peace process

Full texts

28.07.2005: IRA statement on disarmament

28.07.2005: Tony Blair's response

The Good Friday agreement

Useful links

Northern Ireland assembly

Northern Ireland Office

Northern Ireland executive

Parades commission
Police Service of Northern Ireland

The parties

Alliance party
Democratic Unionist party
Progressive Unionist party
Sinn Féin
Social Democratic and Labour party
Ulster Unionist party

Media

Belfast Telegraph
Irish Times
Irish News
CAIN \(Conflict Archive on the Internet\)

Printable version | Send it to a friend | Save story

Privacy policy | Terms & conditions | Advertising guide | A-Z index | About this site
Join our dating site today

Guardian Unlimited © Guardian News and Media Limited 2007

Read today's paper · Jobs

Search:

Guardian Unlimited
Web