

- Skip
- Skip
- Skip
- Skip
- Skip

Commentators

Advanced Search

20° London
 Hi 20°C / Lo 12°C

- Robert Fisk Rumours from around the world

• News

• Opinion

• Environment

• Sport

• Life

• Arts

• Travel

• Money

• Extras

• Student

• Offers

- Leading Articles
- Commentators
- Columnists
- Letters
- Big Question
- Open House

- from The Independent & The Independent on Sunday

Home > Opinion > Commentators

David McKittrick: Ten years on, and nobody has been brought to justice

Friday, 15 August 2008

No one has been found guilty of the murder of the 29 people who died in the Omagh bomb attack 10 years ago.

Everyone one knows who is responsible. But knowing has not been enough. As so often in Troubles-related cases, intelligence has not been translated into evidence that will stand up in court and secure convictions.

 Print  Email

Search

Independent.co.uk Web

Bookmark & Share

 Digg It

 del.icio.us

Related Articles

- ▢ From ashes of Omagh rises a vision of hope

A decade of legal proceedings in Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic has led to two major figures in the Real IRA being put behind bars. But the others involved have so far escaped prison, and police now concede that, after 10 years, it is highly unlikely anyone will be convicted of the murders.

 Facebook
 Stumbleupon

Nonetheless, a civil case is being pursued through the Belfast courts against five leading republicans by some Omagh families who are pursuing millions of pounds in damages. The families hope that civil proceedings may make more headway, since the standard of proof required is less rigorous.

The five men named include two Real IRA leaders who are already behind bars.

The most prominent of these is Michael McKeivitt who, even before Omagh, was widely regarded as the Real IRA's chief-of-staff. A former Provisional IRA boss, McKeivitt, who is in his late 50s, broke away to found the Real IRA to oppose the peace process. He is married to Bernadette Sands-McKeivitt, the sister of Bobby Sands, the IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands.

In court appearances he looked nothing like a terrorist chieftain, instead resembling an old-fashioned bank manager – bald and bespectacled, sporting a blue blazer with silver buttons and a respectable tie.

He also appears to have been a seriously inept terrorist leader. While in the Provisional IRA, he had been an effective backroom boy, with a talent for acquiring guns and hiding them. But as leader of his own group he was clearly way out of his depth.

One witness at his trial testified that McKeivitt had been "horribly upset" by the Omagh bomb, which he claimed had been left at the wrong location. He was given a 20-year prison sentence for terrorism charges – unrelated to Omagh.

A second individual in the civil case is Liam Campbell, McKeivitt's second-in-command. Campbell, a father of two who lived just two metres south of the border in Co Louth, was convicted of Real IRA membership and given an eight-year sentence.

Police who raided his home found disposable face masks, walkie-talkies, a CB radio, six aerials, insulating tape, £2,000 cash and other material. They also discovered an underground bunker beneath a built-in wardrobe. Under questioning he offered few explanations.

The only person jailed specifically in connection with the Omagh bomb was Colm Murphy, a South Armagh building contractor and publican who received a 14-year sentence for conspiring to cause an explosion in August 1998, the date of the bombing. He recently had his conviction quashed and faces a retrial in the autumn.

The only person directly accused of the killings was another South Armagh man, Sean Hoey, an electrician who faced 29 charges of murder and 27 other offences. Last December he was acquitted on all counts.

Two others have also been implicated in the attack. One, Seamus Daly, was confronted by reporters from the BBC's Panorama programme who presented him with evidence that his mobile had been located in the Omagh area at about the time the bomb car was parked.

The fifth man named in the civil case, Seamus McKenna, has been described by his ex-wife during the civil case as a drunk. She told the court that during their marriage "he wasn't involved in anything. All he ever really was was a drunkard".

Interesting? Click here to explore further

Post a comment

Limit: 1000 characters

* Name (only this field displayed)

ON THIS SITE

- Dating
- Independent Offers

Advertiser Links

- Credit Score
- Gift Ideas
- Christmas Gifts
- Travel Guides
- ISA

Cheap Mobile Phones Deal

Get Free Wiis, Ps3s, Laptops Or 11 Month... www.Phones4u.co.uk

guide travel

Find Deals, Read Reviews from Real Peopl...
www.TripAdvisor.co.uk

Ceramic Flower Infuser

Porous ceramic flower infuser is to be u...
www.totalwardrobecare.c

Open House

BT Total
Broadband

To order now
click here.

* Email

* Town/City

* Country/State

* Required field

Remember Me

View all comments that have been posted about this article

Offensive or abusive comments will be removed and your IP address logged and may be used to prevent further submissions. In submitting a comment to the site, you agree to be bound by Independent.co.uk's Terms of Use just imagine if these people were in government?

thats exactly what the families across ni have to face with similiar terrorists sitting at stormont....

disgusting and an affrontery to civil society

Posted by stephen | 15.08.08, 13:59 GMT

 Print Article  Email Article

Also in this section

- Rupert Cornwell: The return of the great powers
- Deborah Orr: Hounded and vilified as a serial homewrecker – who'd be Sienna?
- Shaun Walker: The sad demise of Saakashvili and his bold new vision
- Christina Patterson: There is a lot to be said for marrying young

Advertiser Links

- Credit Score
- Gift Ideas
- Christmas Gifts
- Travel Guides
- ISA

Cheap Mobile Phones Deal

Get Free Wiis, Ps3s, Laptops Or 11 Months Free On 12 Month Deals....

www.Phones4u.co.uk

guide travel

Find Deals, Read Reviews from Real People. Get the Truth. Then Go....

www.TripAdvisor.co.uk

Ceramic Flower Infuser

Porous ceramic flower infuser is to be used with anti moth oils....

www.totalwardrobecare.co.uk

- Guest Author, Dr Arlo Brady: Time for multi-dimensional communication with oil companies
- Mary Dejevsky: Who runs Russia?
- Ben Chu: A reminder of the bad old days
- Pick of the Commentators
- Johann Hari: Postscript - The pathetic insecurity of the religious

Most popular in Opinion

Read	Emailed	Commented
1			Rupert Cornwell: The return of the great powers
2			Robert Fisk's World: A region boiling with tales of kings, gangs and war
3			Johann Hari: We need to stop being such cowards about Islam
4			Mary Dejevsky: Russia the bad guys? Who are the West trying to kid?
5			Deborah Orr: Hounded and vilified as a serial homewrecker – who'd be Sienna?
6			Shaun Walker: The sad demise of Saakashvili and his bold new vision
7			Dominic Lawson: The Prince is entitled to his views – but not his ignorance
8			Robert Fisk: Al-Qa'ida sends its warriors from Iraq to wage 'jihad' in Lebanon
9			Letters: Visa shame
10			Howard Jacobson: The calm comedy of Simon Gray was all the company you ever needed

Independent.co.uk

The Web

© independent.co.uk Legal Terms & Policies | E-mail sign-up | RSS | Contact us | Syndication | Work for INM | Advertising Guide | Group Sites | London Careers