DURKAN - OMAGH INTELLIGENCE REVIEW MUST NOT BE HOLLOW

Back to Latest News

Commenting on the announcement by British Prime Minister Gordon Brown that a review will be held into intercepted intelligence material and how it was shared in the lead up to the Omagh bomb, SDLP Leader Mark Durkan MP MLA stated:

“A purely secret review that might lead to no public outcome other than bland claims that this failure would have made no material difference to events is not what is needed. The bereaved and the injured need a response that is more telling than that. We can not afford the cynicism, frustration and despair that would follow if people thought that all they were getting at the end of this review was a carefully honed but hollow judgement from a safe knight.”
